PETITION FOR WRIT OF CERTIORARI TO THE SUPREME COURT OF ALABAMA

TO THE HONORABLE, THE CHIEF JUSTICE OF THE UNITED STATES AND THE ASSOCIATE JUSTICES OF THE SUPREME COURT OF THE UNITED STATES:

Your petitioners, JOHN IKE GRIFFITH, in Case Number Sixth Division, Number 164, Supreme Court of Alabama, and J. ROBERT HUIE, in Case Number Sixth Division, Number 165, Supreme Court of Alabama, joined here pursuant to Rule 23 (5), Revised Rules of the Supreme Court of the United States, effective July 1, 1954,[1] respectively pray that a writ of certiorari be issued out of and under the seal of this Court to review the judgments

[1]In this petition, 6 Div. 194, John Ike Griffith, shall be referred to as: R. JIG, p.____, and 6 Div. 195, J. Robert Huie, shall be referred to as: R. JRH, p.____.

and opinions of the Supreme Court of Alabama, entered in the above cases on August 12, 1965, which affirmed judgments and orders by the Honorable J. Edgar Bowron, Presiding Judge, Tenth Judicial Circuit of the State of Alabama as follows:

> "RE: IN THE MATTER OF JOHN IKE GRIFFITH, ATTORNEY AT LAW
> 2/10/65: The witness, John Ike Griffith, having been brought into Court by a writ of attachment and having been called as a witness by the Court and having declined and refused to take the stand as a witness for reasons indicated by said witness, the Court adjudges said witness in continuing contempt of Court for failure to take the stand and orders a confinement in the Jefferson County jail until such time as he is willing to conform to the order of the Court and take the stand as a witness. The Court suspends the confinement of said witness and recognizes him on his own bond or bail to permit a review of the order of the Court adjudging him in contempt of Court, providing that said review in whatever manner is proper and legal be promptly processed and forwarded to the reviewing authorities. An exception is noted on behalf of the Commissioner, the Board of Commissioners, and the respondent, or witness, John Ike Griffith."

> "THE COURT: I won't give you all an order, but the order will be identical in each case: Under the circumstances, the witness declining to take the stand as a witness, having been ordered to do so by the Court, the Court will hold the witness, J. Robert Huie, in contempt, continuing contempt, and adjudicate that you are to be confined in the Jefferson County jail until such time as you are willing to conform to the order of the Court and take the stand as a witness. The Court suspends the confinement of said witness and recognizes you on your own bond or bail to permit a review of the order of this Court adjudging you in contempt of Court, providing that said review in whatever manner is proper and legal be promptly processed and forwarded to the reviewing authorities. As we note an exception to this ruling, separately and severally, to you and your counsel of record, and I, therefore, Mr. Huie, recognize you on your own bond and this case is continued until March 1, 1965, at 2:00 p.m., Room 306, courthouse."

The applications of your petitioners for rehearings were denied by the Supreme Court of Alabama on September 9, 1965 (R. JIG, p. 91; R. JRH, p. 68).

A stay of execution of the foregoing confinement for continuing contempt, as ordered by the Honorable J. Edgar Bowron, was granted in each case by the Supreme Court of Alabama on September 9, 1965 (R. JIG, p. 91; R. JRH, p. 68).

OPINIONS BELOW

The opinions of the Supreme Court of Alabama (JIG Appendix A, infra, pp. A1-A13; JRH, Appendix A, infra, pp. A14-A23) have been reported at Ex parte Huie, 178 So.2d 156 (Ala. 1965) and Ex parte Griffith, 178 So.2d 169 (Ala. 1965).

JURISDICTION

The judgments of the Supreme Court of Alabama in these cases (JIG, Appendix A, infra, p. A24; JRH, Appendix A, infra, p. A25) were entered on August 12, 1965.

Timely petitions for rehearing were denied on September 9, 1965, and stays of execution to permit the filing of this petition granted (JIG, Appendix A, infra, p. A26; JRH, Appendix A, infra, p. A27).

The jurisdiction of this Court is invoked under 28 U.S. Code, Sec. 1257 (3), and more particularly, as is delineated in the Statement of the Case, in that Cohen v. Hurley, 366 U.S. 117, which was relied upon by the lower court, no longer is expressive of the law concerning attorneys in disbarment proceedings since Malloy v. Hogan, 378 U.S. 1, which made the federal standards of Amendment V to the Constitution of the United States applicable to the State of Alabama by the provisions of Amendment XIV to the Constitution of the United States.

QUESTIONS PRESENTED

Is an attorney at law in a disbarment action against him entitled, by refusing to take the witness stand, to invoke the privilege against self-incrimination guaranteed to him by the provisions of Amendment V, Constitution of the United States, as said Amendment is made applicable to the State of Alabama by Amendment XIV, Constitution of the United States?

B.

May an attorney at law in a disbarment action against him refuse to take the witness stand on the basis that to do so would violate his rights and those of his client guaranteed by the due process and equal protection clauses of Amendment XIV, Constitution of the United States?

C.

May an attorney at law, consistent with the due process and equal protection clauses of Amendment XIV, Constitution of the United States, be proceeded against in a disbarment action where the thrust of the complaint against him is a violation or violations of a rule of conduct of the Board of Commissioners of the State Bar, approved by the Supreme Court of Alabama, which said rule is contra to the interpreted statutory law of the State of Alabama?

CONSTITUTIONAL PROVISIONS AND STATUTES INVOLVED

The constitutional provisions, statutes and rules involved are set forth below (Appendix B, infra, pp. A28, et seq.)

STATEMENT OF THE CASE

The Grievance Committee of the Alabama Bar Association instituted disbarment proceedings against the petitioner, JOHN IKE GRIFFITH, before the Board of Commissioners of the Alabama State Bar on July 10, 1964 (R. JIG, pp. 32-41); amended the complaint on January 15, 1965 (R. JIG, pp. 43-45); and further amended the complaint also on January 15, 1965 (R. JIG, pp. 46-59).

Similar disbarment proceedings were instituted against petitioner J. ROBERT HUIE on May 20, 1964 (R. JRH, pp. 20-28). Said complaint was amended on January 15, 1965 (R. JRH, pp. 29-32).

The charges against each petitioner complained of violations of two rules of the Board of Commissioners of the Alabama State Bar, viz:

> RULE 25, SECTION A, as last amended.
> 25. No person heretofore or hereafter admitted to practice law in Alabama shall (a) knowingly or willfully make any false representations of fact to any judge, court or jury to induce a favorable action or ruling by either;
> (b) File or prosecute or aid in the filing or proceeding seeking a divorce in a Court in Alabama as attorney or solicitor for a complainant or cross complainant therein or serve as referring or forwarding attorney for such complainant or cross complainant with knowledge or reasonable cause to believe that neither party to such suit, cross bill, or proceeding is at the time of the filing of the bill of complaint or cross bill of complaint therein, a bona fide resident of the State of Alabama;

(c) While acting as attorney for either party in any suit for divorce in any Court in Alabama represent to the Court that either party to such suit is a bona fide resident of Alabama, knowing such representation to be false.

RULE 36, SECTION A, as last amended.

The gravamen of the complaints against each petitioner was that he:

"served as referring or forwarding attorney for the complainant wherein the bill of complaint represented (to a court in Alabama) that either the complainant or respondent was a bona fide resident of the State of Alabama, when, in truth and in fact, the said attorney knew or had reasonable cause to believe that in one or more, if not all, of said cases, neither the complainant nor the respondent was a bona fide resident of the State of Alabama." (R. JIG, p. 33; R. JRH, p. 21).

Thereupon, on January 25, 1965, the president of the Board of Commissioners filed with the secretary of said Board an order for a commissioner to take the testimony of each petitioner (R. JIG, p. 60; R. JRH, p. 39).

The secretary of the Board of Commissioners then issued a subpoena duces tecum to each petitioner on January 26, 1965 (R. JIG, pp. 61-62; R. JRH, pp. 40-41). The thrust of said subpoenas was that each petitioner produce everything of a record nature pertaining to the list of divorce cases which was attached as an exhibit to the complaints (R. JIG, p. 61; R. JRH, p. 40).

Thereupon, Lawrence K. Andrews, General Counsel, Alabama State Bar, on January 26, 1965, caused a Notice to Take Depositions to be served on each petitioner (R. JIG, p. 6; R. JRH, p. 5).

Petitioners then filed Motion to Quash Service of Notice to Take Deposition (R. JIG, pp. 63-64; R. JRH, pp. 44-45). Two of the grounds stated were:

> "7. In that the defendant, JOHN IKE GRIFFITH, (J. ROBERT HUIE) is not a witness in this case, but a defendant.
> 9. In that the notice and attempt to take oral deposition of the defendant violates his constitutional rights under the Due Process Clause of the Constitution of the State of Alabama and the Constitution of the United States of America."

Each petitioner also filed a Motion to Quash Service of Subpoena Duces Tecum (R. JIG, pp. 65-66; R. JRH, pp. 42-43), wherein it was stated petitioners were not witnesses but defendants.

On February 9, 1965, attorney for petitioner, JOHN IKE GRIFFITH, appeared before the commissioner appointed and said commissioner overruled the aforesaid Motion to Quash Service of Notice to take Deposition and Motion to Quash Service of Subpoena Duces Tecum (R. JIG, p. 7).

On February 10, 1965, the identical procedure ensued in the case of petitioner J. ROBERT HUIE (R. JRH, p. 6).

In each case attorney for petitioners declined on behalf of each for them to appear and further declined on behalf of each for them to give any testimony.

Instanter warrants for each petitioner issued (R. JIG, p. 9; R. JRH, p. 8).[2]

Proceedings before the Honorable J. Edgar Bowron, Presiding Judge of the Circuit Court of Jefferson County, Alabama (Tenth Judicial Circuit) in the matter of petitioner JOHN IKE GRIFFITH were had on February 9, 1965 (R. JIG, pp. 10-24). A Motion to Quash Attachment was filed (R. JIG, pp. 11-13). Among other grounds were the following:

> "3. That in this matter before the Commissioner, the accused attorney is charged with violating Rule 25 (a) and Rule 36 in that in one or more divorces, that the accused attorney knew or had reasonable grounds to know that neither complainant or respondent in those cases was a bona fide resident citizen of the State of Alabama. That further, by virtue of Title 34, Section 29, of the Code of Alabama of 1958, no prescribed period of time is required for a complainant to become a resident. That in these proceedings the accused attorney is being called upon to give certain information in regard to these divorces in which it might be that such testimony might incriminate his own client. That by virtue of Title 46, Section 43, of the Code of Alabama of 1958, as recompiled, it is affirmatively stated in Paragraph 4 in regard to the duty of an attorney that he is to maintain inviolate the confidence and at every peril to themselves preserve the secrets of their clients. That further, by virtue of Title 46, Section 50, of the Code of Alabama of 1958, as recompiled, it is stated that an Attorney may be removed or suspended by the Circuit Court for a willful violation of any of the provisions of Section 43. This puts your accused attorney in the position where he is on both horns of a dilemma and that on the other hand it is his duty in accord with the written mandate of the state law that at every peril to himself to preserve the secrets of his clients.

[2]The record in the J. ROBERT HUIE case shows an instanter issuing prior to the date of the request by the commissioner. However, further proceedings show a proper instanter warrant for attachment issued, or no point was made of this.

4. That this Honorable Court is without jurisdiction in this matter in that this Honorable Court is usurping the power and authority of another tribunal and that your defendant is being denied his rights under Article 6, Declaration of Rights, Due Process Clause, of the Constitution of the State of Alabama and the Constitution of the United States of America."

Ground Number 3 was discussed by counsel and court (R. JIG, pp. 16-17).

As to Ground Number 4, Cohen v. Hurley, 366 U.S. 117, was advocated by counsel for the Board of Bar Commissioners as negating the contention of petitioner he did not have to appear as a witness (R. JIG, p. 19).

The court itself relied on Cohen (R. JIG, pp. 22-23) to overrule the motion to quash.

On February 10, 1965, further proceedings were held before the Honorable J. Edgar Bowron (R. JIG, pp. 24-30). It was stated petitioner JOHN IKE GRIFFITH had refused to take the witness stand before the commissioner (R. JIG, p. 25).

Counsel for petitioner then assigned all grounds previously assigned in objecting to petitioner taking the witness stand (R. JIG, p. 26).

Petitioner declined to the court to take the witness stand to be examined (R. JIG, pp. 28-29) on advice of counsel, for reasons heretofore mentioned.

The Honorable J. Edgar Bowron proceeded to hold petitioner in continuing contempt of court for failure to take the stand as a witness (R. JIG, pp. 29-30).

The case of petitioner J. ROBERT HUIE was for all practical and legal purposes identical. A Motion to Quash Attachment was filed (R. JRH, pp. 10-12).

Counsel for petitioner specifically stated "this defendant is being denied the right of due process of law under Article One, Section Six of the Constitution of the State of Alabama, and under the Due Process Clause of the Constitution of the United States". (R. JRH, p. 15)

The witness, J. ROBERT HUIE, declined to take the witness stand on the same grounds as stated in JOHN IKE GRIFFITH's case (R. JRH, p. 16), and the same continuing order of contempt was adjudged (R. JRH, p. 16).

Petitioners filed identical petitions in the Supreme Court of Alabama for Writ of Mandamus or other appropriate writ (R. JIG, pp. 1-4; R. JRH, pp. 1-4).

Certiorari to perfect the record in each case did issue (R. JIG, p. 31-A; R. JRH, p. 18), and return made (R. JIG, pp. 32-69; R. JRH, pp. 19-48).

Both cases were submitted on petition, return to certiorari and on briefs (R. JIG, p. 70; R. JRH, p. 49). There were no assignments of error. The judgments of contempt below were affirmed (JIG, Appendix A, infra, p. A24; JRH, Appendix A, infra, p. A25)

Timely applications for rehearing were made on August 26, 1965 (R. JIG, p. 89; R. JRH, p. 66), and denied on September 9, 1965 (JIG, Appendix A, infra, p. A26; JRH, Appendix A, infra, p. A27). Rehearings being denied, petitions for stay of execution (R. JIG, p. 90; JRH, p. 67) pending filing of this petition for writ of certiorari were granted (JIG, Appendix A, infra, p. A26; JRH, Appendix A, infra, p. A27).

REASONS FOR GRANTING THE WRIT

Mr. Justice Black, dissenting in Cohen v. Hurley, 366 U.S. 117, posed the question: "Could the Court peremptorily confine a lawyer in jail for contempt until he agreed to co-operate with the court by foregoing his privilege against self-incrimination—or renouncing his freedom of speech? " 366 U.S. 143.

The present petition for writ of certiorari squarely presents the factual situation of the question.

It would appear that Cohen held less stringent standards than the federal ones against self-incrimination applied to the states. Since Malloy v. Hogan, 378 U.S. 1, the federal standards of Amendment V, Constitution of the United States, have applied to the individual states.

Malloy had been ordered to testify before a referee appointed by a court in Connecticut to conduct an inquiry into alleged gambling and other criminal activities. Petitioners here were defendants, Ex parte M. F. Dozier, 262 Ala. 197, 77 So. 2d 903, in a highly judicial proceeding Ex parte Thompson, 228 Ala. 113, 152 So. 229.

Repeatedly, as noted, petitioners refused to take the witness stand against themselves on state or federal constitutional grounds. To confine them in jail until they did answer questions would violate the philosophy of Malloy and relegate attorneys to the category of "second-class citizens" to whom constitutional safeguards are not available.

If it be a fact as alleged in the complaints against petitioners that parties to the divorces concerned were not bona fide residents of Alabama and petitioners knew of this fact, then they would each be subject to prosecution for subornation of perjury, Title 14, Section 377, Code of Alabama, 1940 (Appendix B, p. A29), and client would be subject to prosecution for perjury.

Secondly, to have petitioners violate the attorney-client confidential relationship, Title 46, Section 43, Code of Alabama 1940 (Appendix B, p. A30) by answering questions is a clear violation of their rights and the rights of client under the due process and equal protection clauses of Amendment XIV, Constitution of the United States. Schwimmer v. United States, 232 F. 2d 855 (CA8); Tillotson v. Boughner, CA9, No. 15036 (July 13, 1965).

Thirdly, Title 34, Section 27, Code of Alabama, 1940, as amended (Appendix B, infra, p. A29) and Title 34, Section 29, Code of Alabama, 1940, as amended (Appendix B, infra, p. A30) have been interpreted by the Supreme Court of Alabama in Levy v. Levy, 256 Ala. 629, 59 So. 2d 344 and Hilley v. Hilley, 275 Ala. 617, 157 So. 2d 215 as to require no particular or specific period of residence in the State of Alabama of a complainant in a divorce proceeding where the respondent is a non-resident when the court has jurisdiction of both parties to the cause of action, the only jurisdictional requirement being that the complainant be domiciled in the state so as to confer upon the court jurisdiction of the res. Hence, the Supreme Court of Alabama has refused to set aside a divorce decree where one of the parties thereto objected. Aiello v. Aiello, 272 Ala. 505, 133 So. 2d 18. The decrees of divorce are not void. Rule 25 of the Board of Commissioners of the Alabama State Bar (Appendix B, infra, p. A31) is, therefore, causing conduct of an attorney in procuring divorces, unless he be able to probe the mental processes of his client and ascertain his true intention as to future permanent residence in the State of Alabama, to be denominated unethical and subjecting himself to disbarment, although the divorce decree obtained be valid for all intents and purposes under the pertinent statutes. Petitioners submit this clearly violates their rights guaranteed by the due process and equal protection clauses of Amendment XIV, Constitution of the United States.

The matter seems to be so clear since Malloy that the constitutional rights of petitioners have been violated it is suggested this Court could summarily reverse the orders and judgments below on its authority.

CONCLUSION

For reasons stated, it is respectfully submitted the petition for writ of certiorari in these cases should be granted.

Respectfully submitted,

Fred Blanton, Jr., Esq.

APPENDIX A

I

6 Div. 194

Ex parte John Ike Griffith, Attorney at Law
(Re: John Ike Griffith
v.
J. Edgar Bowron, Circuit Judge,
10th Judicial Circuit of Alabama)

Petition for Writ of Certiorari

HARWOOD, JUSTICE

On 10 July 1964, the Grievance Committee of the Alabama Bar Association filed charges against John Ike Griffith, a member of the Bar of this state. These charges allege unprofessional conduct against Griffith because of his activity and participation in obtaining a number of so-called "quickie" divorces in several courts of this state. A list of such cases were filed as an exhibit to the charges.

On 15 January 1965, the original charges and exhibits were amended to include some 41 such divorce cases in Winston County Circuit Court (Haleyville Division) and 269 such divorce cases in Marion County Circuit Court.

Upon filing of a complaint (in this instance by the Grievance Committee of the Alabama State Bar) Rule B (12) of the Rules Governing the Conduct of Attorneys in Alabama, provides that the President shall make and cause to be filed with the Secretary an order fixing a date for the taking of evidence upon the complaint. It is further provided that the evidence may be taken by a Commissioner designated by the President.

On 25 January 1965, Frank J. Tipler, Jr., as President of the Board of Commissioners of the Alabama State Bar, appointed Timothy M. Conway as Commissioner to take testimony upon the charges and specifications, the appointment providing that said Commissioner should take the testimony of John Ike Griffith at the courthouse in Birmingham on 9 February 1965, at 10:00 A. M.

Notice of such hearing was served upon Griffith, and included in the notice was a subpoena duces tecum to Griffith to bring with him and produce:

> "(1) All records in his possession pertaining to divorces obtained by him as forwarding attorney, or as solicitor, in the Law and Equity Court of Winston County, Double Springs, Alabama; (2) All files, records and correspondence in said cases; (3) All agreements in writing between complainants and respondents in said cases; (4) All checks and receipts representing payments of costs and/or attorney fees in said cases; (5) All records of fees received or forwarded in said cases; (6) All records of every nature or description pertaining to the divorce cases set forth on Exhibit A, as amended, and Exhibit C of the Complaint in the above styled matter; and (7) the office copy of a letter under date of July 3, 1963, to Mr. James A. Meceli, 370 Parsippany Boulevard, Boonton, New Jersey."

The notice and subpoena duces tecum was signed by John B. Scott, Secretary of the Alabama State Bar. (See Rules Governing the Conduct of Attorneys in Alabama, Sec. B (19); Title 46, Secs. 35, Code of Alabama 1940.)

On 5 February 1965, Hon. Matt H. Murphy, Jr., as attorney for John Ike Griffith, filed with the Secretary of the Alabama State Bar a motion to quash service of the motion to take the deposition and a motion to quash the service of the subpoena duces tecum.

On the day set for the hearing Mr. Murphy appeared before Mr. Conway, the Commissioner, and again offered the motions to quash as above mentioned. Mr. Griffith was not present on advice of Mr. Murphy. Upon the motions being overruled, Mr. Murphy declined to permit his client to appear before the Commissioner.

Thereupon Mr. Conway, the Commissioner, petitioned the Hon. J. Edgar Bowron, Presiding Judge of the Tenth Judicial Circuit, for an order of attachment for the said Griffith, commanding him to appear instanter before the Commissioner and give testimony. Judge Bowron issued the attachment as prayed.

Service of the attachment was accepted, and the hearing before the Commissioner was resumed. Mr. Griffith was sworn, but again refused to take the stand as a witness. Several grounds were asserted as a basis of Mr. Griffith's action, among which it was asserted that should he testify there could possibly arise a breach of the attorney-client privilege on Mr. Griffith's part.

The matter was then again presented to Judge Bowron. Again a hearing and argument was had before Judge Bowron. Mr. Griffith was ordered by Judge Bowron to take the stand and again he refused, the record in this respect showing:

> " * * * I respectfully decline to take the stand, and for the reason cite Title 46, Section 43, paragraph 4, wherein the Code of Alabama binds my hands to maintain inviolate the secrets of my clients, and that the charges that have been preferred against me by the Board are obvious and clear that the testimony desired to be adduced from the witness, or from myself, would violate the confidences and secrets of my clients, and for that reason I decline to take the stand and testify, and for the further reason that Title 46, Section 50, paragraph three, wherein it states that should I violate the secrets and the confidences of my client that I may be disbarred for doing so, and for the further reason that I have studied the charges against me, and I have consulted legal counsel and I have been advised by legal counsel that I am not required to take the stand and advised not to take the stand, and that I respectfully obey the counsel of my own lawyer in that respect, and I further cite as grounds for my refusal to take the stand the contents or the substance of Title 46, Section 35, and Title 46, Section 50, and, Your Honor, I beg to be excused from taking the stand.

"THE COURT: Before you sit down, Mr. Griffith, you fully understand that you, as an attorney, are an officer of the Court?

"MR. GRIFFITH: Yes; Your Honor.

"THE COURT: And, regardless of that relationship, having been ordered and requested by the Court to take the stand, you refuse on the basis of the statement which you have just made?

"MR. GRIFFITH: That is right; Your Honor.

"THE COURT: You may be seated sir. All right. The Court will now hold the witness, Mr. John Ike Griffith, in contempt of Court, and will order him into confinement until such time as he will conform to the order and direction of the Court to take the stand as a witness. I am entirely agreeable to suspending the confinement of this witness to offer counsel an opportunity to review the ruling of this Court, provided that it is done with reasonable expedition and promptness."

The court thereupon entered a formal order adjudging Mr. Griffith in continuing contempt for failure to take the stand and ordered his confinement until such time as he is willing to conform to the order of the court. Sentence was suspended, and Mr. Griffith was released on his own recognizance until the order could be reviewed by this court.

At the threshold of our review, we are met with petitioner-appellant's argument that the proceedings before Commissioner Conway are null and void in that neither Mr. Conway, nor the members of the Board of Commissioners of the Alabama State Bar, nor the members of the Grievance Committee had taken the oath of office required by the provisions of Article 16, Section 279 of the Constitution of Alabama of 1901.

Section 279, supra, provides in pertinent part:

> "All members of the legislature, and all officers, executive and judicial, before they enter upon the execution of the duties of their respective offices, shall take the following oath or affirmation:
> " 'I, _____, solemnly swear (or affirm, as the case may be) that I will support the Constitution of the United States, and the Constitution of the State of Alabama, so long as I continue a citizen thereof; and that I will faithfully and honestly discharge the duties of the office upon which I am about to enter, to the best of my ability. So help me God.' "

The above provision applies only to state officers. State ex rel. Wilkinson et al. v. Lane, 181 Ala. 646, 62 So. 31. Members of the bar of Alabama are members of a private incorporated association. There is no statutory provision requiring any separate oath on their part before entering upon their duties as members of the bar of this state. They are not state officers. Every attorney practicing before the courts of this state is an officer of the court.

Further, by the provisions of Section 39, Title 46, Code of Alabama 1940, every attorney at law, before being permitted to practice, shall take the following oath:

> "I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will demean myself as an attorney, according to the best of my learning and ability, and with all good fidelity, as well to the court as to the client; that I will use no falsehood or delay any person's cause for lucre or malice, and that I will support the constitution of the State of Alabama and of the United States, so long as I continue a citizen thereof, so help me God."

This oath is in all material aspects the same as the oath required of state officers by Section 279 of our Constitution. This in itself would negative appellant's contention, even if, for the sake of argument, attorneys should be regarded as state officers, a status that cannot be logically accepted.

There is therefore no merit in this contention.

Counsel for appellant also argues that he had filed his motions to quash the complaint with Mr. Scott, Secretary of the Alabama State Bar, and this action placed the matter in the hands of Commissioners of the Alabama State Bar, and that a ruling by a quorum of the Commissioners was necessary for a proper ruling on the motions.

This argument overlooks that part of Section 33, Title 46, Code of Alabama 1940, providing that the Board of Commissioners of the Alabama State Bar may designate any person to take testimony under oath in any investigation of charges against an attorney, and further overlooks the provisions of Rule B (12) that evidence may be taken by a Commissioner designated by the President of the Commissioners of the State Bar.

These provisions do not contemplate that a quorum of the Commissioners of the State Bar shall be convened every time a ruling is invoked before the Commissioner designated by the President to hear the evidence in a disciplinary action against a member of the State Bar.

At the taking of testimony before a Commissioner appointed for that purpose, it is not necessary that any objection be made to any testimony, but the Board of Commissioners shall consider only such evidence as is in its opinion relevant, material, or competent. Rule B(18). Further, at any meeting of the Board of Commissioners to consider the evidence theretofore taken, the Board shall hear all parties in interest and their counsel. This of course gives the accused attorney full opportunity to present arguments and question the validity of any ruling by the Commissioner to a quorum of the Commissioners of the State Bar.

The above provisions demonstrate that the argument of the petitioner in the aspect above mentioned is untenable.

Petitioner argues that he was a defendant in the proceedings instituted by the State Bar and that Commissioner Conway had no power or legal warrant to have him subpoenaed as a "witness." Counsel relies upon the statement to be found in Lewis v. Gerald, et al., 236 Ala. 91, 181 So. 306, to the effect that:

> "An attorney whose conduct is under investigation by the Grievance Committee is not compelled to appear before such committee, but when he does so his appearance must be deemed and treated as voluntary."

The investigation by a grievance committee is analogous to an investigation by a grand jury. It is but a preliminary inquisition. Lewis v. Gerald, supra.

But we are not here concerned with the petitioner's appearance before a grievance committee, but with his appearance before a Commissioner duly appointed by the President of the Board of Commissioners of the State Bar to take evidence on charges theretofore preferred by a grievance committee.

Section 35, Title 46, Code of Alabama 1940, provides:

> "In the investigation of charges of misconduct, the Board, and any committee appointed by it for this purpose, shall have power to summon and examine witnesses under oath and compel their attendance and the production of books, papers, documents and other writings necessary or material to the inquiry."

Also, Rule B (19) of the Rules provides that:

"Witnesses may be summoned by the Board, its President, its Secretary, any grievance committee, or by the Commissioner, their appearance and testimony required, the oath administered, depositions taken, and the production of books, papers and other documents required in all respects as required by law."

Clear authority therefore existed to subpoena the petitioner before Commissioner Conway, unless, as petitioner contends, he could not be compelled to appear as a "witness," he claiming to be a defendant.

Hearings before the Board of Commissioners of the Alabama State Bar, or a commissioner duly appointed to conduct such hearing, is, strictly speaking, neither a civil nor a criminal one. Its sole purpose is to purge the bar of a member, whose conduct has, since his admission, rendered him unfit to remain a member of the bar. Ex parte Thompson, 228 Ala. 113, 152 So. 229; Ex parte Messer, 228 Ala. 16, 152 So. 244.

As stated in Messer, supra:

"It is well settled that the rules and principles of the law of evidence applicable to civil proceedings are also applicable to quasi criminal proceedings; that the defendant may be compelled to testify as a witness for the plaintiff, the testimony may be taken by deposition, and the failure of the defendant to testify may be commented on in argument. Smith v. State, 13 Ala. App. 411, 69 So. 406; Miller v. State, 110 Ala. 69, 20 So. 392; Attorney General v. Pelletier, 240 Mass. 264, 134 N. E. 407."

The petitioner could therefore be lawfully subpoenaed and compelled to testify before Commissioner Conway.

Counsel for petitioner argues that in the proceedings before Judge Bowron the petitioner was on "both horns of a dilemma" in that should he take the stand and testify he would possibly be confronted with violating Section 43 (4), Title 46, Code of Alabama 1940, imposing on him the duty of maintaining inviolate and at every peril, the secrets of his client, and on the other hand, upon his refusal to testify he would be subject to disbarment for violating Section 50 of Title 46, Code of Alabama 1940, for a wilful disobedience or violation of an order of a court requiring him to do or forbear an act connected with, or in the course of, his profession.

Whether a communication by a client to his attorney is privileged is a question of fact to be determined by the court. A witness, be he an attorney or a client, is not entitled to decide the question for himself. Thornton on Attorneys at Law, Vol. 1, Section 96, and authorities therein cited.

There are limitations on the application of the rule of privileged communications. As pointed out in Sawyer v. Stanley, 241 Ala. 39, 1 So. 2d 21, the perpetration of a fraud is outside the scope of professional duty of an attorney, and that the great majority of cases hold that the privilege "protecting communications between attorney and client is lost if the relation is abused, as where the client seeks advice that will serve him in the commission of a fraud." The reason for this exception to the general rule is that if a client discloses his fraudulent purpose, and the attorney refuses to be connected with it, there cannot be said to be professional employment, and consequently no privilege accrues; if the client does not disclose his fraudulent purpose, there is no confidential relationship established, and no attaching privilege; if an attorney knowing the facts and fraudulent purpose agrees to aid in the perpetration of the fraud, he then becomes a party to it, and the communications made to him cease to be privileged. Thornton, supra, Sec. 122; 58 Am. Jur., Witnesses, Sec. 517.

Where false allegations are made in pleadings in order to invoke the jurisdiction of a court, and false testimony is presented to support the untrue allegations, monumental fraud is thereby perpetrated upon the court. The relation of attorney and client cannot be used as a cloak to cover wrongdoing. The rule of privilege is defensive, not offensive. If the communication between attorney and client relates to unlawful or fraudulent accomplishment, higher public policy, and the duty of an attorney to society as a whole abrogates the privilege.

Further, communications made by a client to an attorney which the attorney in the discharge of his duty is of necessity obliged to make public are not privileged. See White v. State, 86 Ala. 69, 5 So. 674. This rule is applicable to facts communicated by a client which are to be alleged in pleading. Thornton, supra, Sec. 118; 58 Am. Jur. Witnesses, Sec. 491.

In addition to the above doctrines it was specifically held in White v. State, supra, that an attorney may, without violating the rule of confidential communications, be compelled to testify to the fact of his employment; that he was the authorized attorney of a client in a certain transaction; as to any matter manifestly not intended to be private or confidential, but was intended to be communicated to the adverse party; to prove the handwriting of his client, the payment of monies to him; the execution of papers which the attorney attested.

It is therefore manifest that the petitioner in refusing to take the stand and testify assumed for himself the right to determine whether his assertion of the doctrine of confidential communications was valid. This was a matter solely within the province of the court to determine. The petitioner's actions in the premises were premature, and can furnish no justification for his refusal to testify.

Finally, petitioner argues that he is guilty only of a criminal contempt, and that the court's action in committing him to jail until he took the stand as a witness was excessive in view of Section 126, Title 13, Code of Alabama 1940, which limits the punishment for criminal contempt to a fine not exceeding fifty dollars and imprisonment not exceeding five days.

The petitioner cites Ex parte Bullen, 236 Ala. 56, 181 So. 498 in support of his argument under this proposition. In Bullen the contemnor had been sentenced to one hour in jail for contempt because of his refusal to answer a question as to whom he had voted for in a municipal election after being ordered to do so by the court.

The court apparently proceeded only under the theory of criminal contempt, as was its province. This is not to say that the court could not have proceeded against Bullen's conduct as a civil contempt and have compelled obedience to its orders. However, this question was not involved in the Bullen appeal, but solely the question of his criminal contempt.

In United States v. United Mine Workers of America, 330 U. S. 258, 67 S. Ct. 677, 91 L. Ed. 884, two fines were levied in the contempt proceedings for the same act. The fine levied for past contumacy was held to be for criminal contempt, and the fine to coerce the union into future compliance with the court's order was held to be for civil contempt. As stated by the court: "The same acts may justify a court in resorting to coercive and to punitive measures."

In the present case the lower court saw fit to proceed against the petitioner-contemnor in a civil contempt aspect only.

Our cases make clear the distinction between a criminal contempt and a civil contempt. Our cases hold that statutory limitations on punishment for contempt (Sections 9, 126, and 143 of Title 13, Code of 1940) apply only to criminal contempt, and not to civil contempt. Ex parte King, 263 Ala. 487, 83 So. 2d 241; Ex parte Dickens, 162 Ala. 272, 50 So. 218.

In Ex parte Dickens, 162 Ala. 272, 50 So. 220, it is stated:

> "A 'civil contempt' consists in failing to do something, ordered to be done by a court in a civil action, for the benefit of the opposing party therein."

In Ex parte Hill, 229 Ala. 501, 158 So. 531, this court wrote:

> "It is also said that the limitations provided by statute were not intended to restrict the power of the court to enforce its orders and decrees. That right is called a proceeding to declare a civil contempt. A criminal contempt is one in which the purpose of the proceeding is to impose punishment for disobedience to the orders of the court. A civil contempt invokes the power of the court to commit one who is continuing to violate its orders until he complies with them. This court has held that the statutory limitations do not apply to civil contempts as thus defined. Ex parte Dickens, supra; Ex parte Stickney, 40 Ala. 160."

As stated in 17 Am. Jur. 2d Contempt, Section 4:

> "A criminal contempt involves no element of personal injury. It is directed against the power and > dignity of the court; private parties have little, if any, interest in the proceedings for punishment. Conversely, if the contempt consists in the refusal of a person to do an act that the court has ordered him to do for the benefit or advantage of a party to a suit or action pending before the court, and the contemnor is committed until he complies with the order, the commitment is in the nature of an execution to enforce the judgment of the court; the party in whose favor that judgment was rendered is the real party in interest in the proceedings. Civil contempt proceedings look only to the future. And it is said that in civil contempt proceedings, the contemnor must be in a position to purge himself."

In the present case the primary purpose of the court's order holding the petitioner in contempt until he took the stand and testified was for the advantage of the party injured by his refusal, i.e., the Commissioners of the Alabama State Bar. The court's order was coercive, and provided in effect that petitioner could purge himself by complying with the court's order to testify. Clearly the contempt was a direct and continuing contempt and the court was fully and legally warranted in treating petitioner's action as a civil contempt and ordering him confined until he complied with the order of the court.

Ex parte J. Robert Huie, Attorney at Law
(In Re: J. Robert Huie
v.
10th Judicial Circuit of Alabama)

Petition for Writ of Certiorari

COLEMAN, JUSTICE.

Petitioner seeks review of an order of the circuit court holding petitioner in contempt because petitioner failed and refused to take the stand as a witness in a disbarment proceeding brought against petitioner by the "Grievance Committee of the Alabama State Bar Association."

The court ordered that petitioner be confined in jail until such time as he is "willing to conform to the order of the Court and take the stand as a witness." The court suspended the confinement and released petitioner on his own recognizance pending review.

We granted certiorari and the clerk has certified the record to us. It discloses that the Grievance Committee filed with the Board of Commissioners of the Alabama State Bar charges that petitioner has violated Rules 25 and 36 of Section A of the "Rules Governing the Conduct of All Persons admitted to the Practice of Law in the State of Alabama," which rules recite as follows:

"No person heretofore or hereafter admitted to practice law in Alabama shall

"(a) Knowingly or willfully make any false representations of fact to any judge, court, or jury to induce a favorable action or ruling by either;

"(b) file or prosecute or aid in the filing or prosecution of any suit, cross bill, or proceeding seeking a divorce in a court in Alabama as attorney or solicitor for a complainant or cross complainant therein or serve as referring or forwarding attorney for such complainant or cross complainant with knowledge or reasonable cause to believe that neither party to such suit, cross bill, or proceeding is at the time of the filing of the bill of complaint or cross bill of complaint therein, a bona fide resident of the State of Alabama;

"(c) while acting as attorney for either party in any suit for divorce in any court in Alabama represent to the court or conspire with any party, attorney, or person to represent to the court that either party to such suit is a bona fide resident of Alabama, knowing such representation to be false." (272 Ala. XXI)

"No person licensed to practice law in the courts of the State of Alabama shall be guilty of any conduct unbecoming an attorney at law." (239 Ala. XXV)

See: 242 Ala. XV.

The specifications are that petitioner violated said rules in certain divorce cases by making representations as to the residence of a party or parties to the suit.

The President of the Board of Commissioners appointed an examining commissioner to take testimony and ordered him to take the testimony of petitioner at a specified time and place. Notice of the hearing and subpoena duces tecum were served on petitioner. At the appointed time, petitioner refused to take the stand. The examining commissioner obtained attachment for petitioner from the circuit court, and, after hearing, the court made the order holding petitioner in contempt, which order we now review.

Petitioner filed before the Board of Commissioners motions to quash the notice and subpoena duces tecum.

Petitioner argues that the court erred in holding him in contempt for five reasons which we discuss, not, however, in the order in which they are presented in brief.

First, petitioner argues that ". . . . by virtue of Title 46, Section 35, that only the board, and any committee appointed by it shall have power to summons and examine witnesses . . . .," that petitioner is a defendant, not a witness, and that neither the Grievance Committee nor a commissioner has power to compel attendance and have petitioner's testimony taken by a commissioner; citing Lewis v. Gerald, 236 Ala. 91, 181 So. 306.

§ 33, Title 46, Code 1940, provides that the board of commissioners shall establish rules governing procedure in cases of alleged misconduct of attorneys. The board has done this. Rule 12, of Section B, recites:

> "12. President's Order Fixing Date, and by Whom Testimony Taken
> "The evidence may be taken either (a) by the Grievance Committee of the Board, or (b) by a Commissioner designated by the President, or (c) by the Board, and the President shall determine whether the evidence shall be taken by the Grievance Committee of the Board or by a Commissioner or by the Board. The President shall thereupon make and cause to be filed with the Secretary an order fixing a date for taking the evidence upon the said complaint." (239 Ala. XXVII)

A copy of the President's order appointing the examining commissioner appears in the record and fixes the date for taking testimony of petitioner.

§ 35, Title 46, recites that "the board, and any committee appointed by it for this purpose shall have power to summon and examine witnesses under oath and compel their attendance and the production of books . . . .," etc.,

and that "Such summons or subpoena shall be issued under the hand of the secretary of the board or the chairman of any duly constituted sub-committee of the board, and shall have the force of a subpoena issued by a court of competent jurisdiction . . . ."

Rule 19, of Section B, recites:

> "19. Summoning Witnesses: Production of Papers
> "Witnesses may be summoned by the Board, its President, its Secretary, any Grievance Committee, any Chairman of a Grievance Committee, or by the Commissioner, their appearance and testimony required, the oath administered, depositions taken, and the production of books, papers and other documents required in all respects as provided by law." (239 Ala. XXVIII)

Two papers were served on petitioner. One paper is entitled: "NOTICE TO TAKE DEPOSITIONS" and is signed by counsel for the Alabama State Bar. It has not been pointed out to us where rule or statute provides that counsel may issue a subpoena, and, indeed, the notice does not expressly command petitioner to attend the hearing. It may well be that petitioner could not be held in contempt if this notice were the only process served on him.

The subpoena duces tecum is under the hand of:

> "S/John B. Scott
> Secretary, Alabama State Bar"

We think common knowledge justifies us in taking notice that this is the hand of the secretary of the board of commissioners. § 24, Title 46, Code 1940. To comply with the letter of § 35, Title 46, the description should be: Secretary of the Board of Commissioners of the Alabama State Bar.

This paper commands the sheriff to summon petitioner to appear before the commissioner and there to testify.

It seems to us that the examining commissioner was appointed and the day set as required by Rule 12 of Section B, and that subpoena was issued as provided by § 35, Title 46, and Rule 19. We hold that the commissioner had authority to take testimony and that the process served on petitioner was sufficient to satisfy the statute and rule.

Authority of the examining commissioner and proper service of sufficient process being shown, it follows that the court did not err in holding petitioner in contempt for the reason that the examining commissioner did not have lawful power to compel petitioner's attendance and to take his testimony.

Petitioner relies on the following statement:

> "We may say further that an attorney, whose conduct is under investigation by the Grievance Committee is not compelled to appear before such committee, but when he does so his appearance must be deemed and treated as voluntary." Lewis v. Gerald, supra, at page 94.

In Lewis v. Gerald, supra, the court held that an attorney, who had been investigated by the Grievance Committee, was not entitled to read and inspect the evidence which that committee had acquired relating to charges of unprofessional conduct on the part of the attorney. Whatever may be the force of the statement from Lewis v. Gerald quoted above, the statement does not apply to the instant case because the instant petitioner has not been summoned to appear before the Grievance Committee. He was summoned to appear before an examining commissioner who was appointed by the president of, and who is taking testimony for, the Board of Commissioners.

Petitioner's first reason to show error is not well taken.

Second, petitioner argues that neither the examining commissioner nor the Board of Commissioners of the State Bar are qualified to act against petitioner because they have not been sworn as all officers are required, by Section 279 of the Constitution of 1901, to be sworn.

Section 279 applies only to state officers. State ex rel. Wilkinson v. Lane, 181 Ala. 646, 62 So. 31. We do not think that either the examining commissioner or the Board of Commissioners are state officers in the constitutional sense, and, therefore, are of opinion that Section 279 has no application. These commissioners are officers of the State Bar, which is an association of attorneys. The members of the association are not state officers.

> "The attorney does not hold an office or public trust in the constitutional or statutory sense of that term, but is an officer of the court exercising a privilege or franchise. In a sense he is an officer of the State with an obligation to the public no less significant than his obligation to his clients. It is an office held during good behavior and is one of which he can be divested only upon good cause shown and after proper judicial proceedings. See Ex Parte Garland, 4 Wall. (U. S.) 333, 18 L. Ed. 366; Boston Bar Assn. v. Casey, 211 Mass. 187, 97 N. E. Rep. 751, 39 L. R. A. (N.S.) 116; Ex Parte Faulkner, 1 W. Va. 269; 6 C. J. 568, and authorities cited." In Re W. Marvin Clifton, 115 Fla. 168, 173, 155 So. 324.

We think it follows that the examining commissioner and the Board of Commissioners are not state officers, in the constitutional sense, and that § 279 does not apply to them.

Petitioner asserts that, because he had filed with the Board of Commissioners a motion to quash the service of the notice and subpoena duces tecum, the matter was in the hands of the Commissioners and "a quorum of the Commissioners was necessary before there could be a proper ruling as set out in Title 46, Section 33 of the Code of Alabama of 1940."

As already noted, § 33, Title 46, provides that the Board of Commissioners shall establish rules of procedure in cases involving professional misconduct and the Board has established such rules. We do not find in § 33 any requirement that a quorum of the Board must act on a motion to quash before a commissioner appointed according to the rules can take testimony, and, therefore, we are of opinion that action by the Board on the motion was not a condition precedent to the action taken by the circuit court in the order now under review.

We hold petitioner's second reason not well taken.

Third, petitioner asserts that under § 126, Subdivision 4, of Title 13, the circuit court does not have jurisdiction to impose "a direct and continuing contempt of court against an accused attorney who merely declines to appear before the Grievance committee of the Alabama State Bar prior to trial. Ex parte Bullen, 236 Ala. 56, 181 So. 498."

Petitioner misconceives the nature of the proceeding, in which he has been summoned to testify, in supposing that he is being summoned before the Grievance Committee prior to trial. He is on trial and is summoned as a witness before the examining commissioner appointed by the President of the Board of Commissioners.

§ 126 (4) provides that the circuit court has authority to punish contempts by fines, not exceeding fifty dollars, and by imprisonment not exceeding five days. In Bullen, petitioner had been sentenced to serve one hour in jail for contempt for refusing to answer a question. This court said he was guilty of a direct contempt and subject to punishment by fine or imprisonment, or both.

From the citations, we understand petitioner's argument to be that, in the case at bar, if petitioner actually be in contempt, the court could have punished petitioner by a fine, not exceeding fifty dollars, or imprisonment, not exceeding five days, or both, but that the court could not order petitioner to be confined until he is willing to take the stand as a witness.

We think petitioner is in error because of § 35, Title 46, and § 455, Title 7. § 35, Title 46, provides in part:

> ". . . . Such summons or subpoena . . . . shall have the force of a subpoena issued by a court of competent jurisdiction, and any witness or other person . . . . who shall refuse to be sworn or testify . . . . shall be liable to attachment upon application . . . . to any judge of any court of record for the district where the investigation is conducted as in cases of contempt."

§ 455 of Title 7 recites:

> "Any witness refusing to testify, unless privileged by law from testifying in the cause, must be committed to the jail of the county, there to remain without bail until he consents to testify."

See Ex parte Morris, 252 Ala. 551, 42 So. 2d 17.

In as much as the subpoena duces tecum here has the force of a subpoena issued by a court of "competent jurisdiction," and refusal of a duly subpoenaed witness to testify subjects him to confinement unless he is privileged from testifying, and petitioner was duly subpoenaed and has refused to testify, he is subject to confinement, unless privileged by law from testifying in the cause.

Petitioner's third reason does not show error.

Petitioner's fourth and fifth reasons go to the question of privilege. Petitioner argues that he cannot be required to testify because § 43, Title 46, commands him to preserve the secrets of his clients, and because ". . . . The accused attorney beyond per adventure of a doubt is being called upon in this sort of case to take the stand and give testimony, which would involve a mental operation of his own client and that as a matter of state law, he is actually faced with a disbarible (sic) offense if he should reveal any of the secrets of his clients . . . ."

Petitioner has not taken the stand and no question has been propounded to him. To say now whether he will be privileged to refuse to answer any question would be sheer speculation. The possibility that a question might call for privileged evidence does not justify petitioner in refusing to take the stand.

In reply brief, petitioner appears also to contend that he is being called to give evidence against himself in violation of Section 6 of Constitution of 1901.

In a criminal case, the prosecution cannot call defendant as a witness against his will. If the proceeding against petitioner were a criminal case, the prosecution could not call petitioner as a witness, against his will, because he is the defendant. We do not think, however, that the proceeding in which he is called to testify is a criminal case. This court, in a disbarment proceeding, has said:

> "This is not a criminal prosecution within the influence of section 6 of the Constitution, but is only quasi criminal. State v. Quarles, 158 Ala. 54, 48 So. 499; Thomas v. State ex rel. Stepney, 58 Ala. 365. Therefore, Buckley's case does not support the contention.
> "It is well settled that the rules and principles of the law of evidence applicable to civil proceedings are also applicable to quasi criminal proceedings; that the defendant may be compelled to testify as a witness for > the plaintiff, the testimony may be taken by deposition, and the failure of the defendant to testify may be commented on in argument. Smith v. State, 13 Ala. App. 411, 69 So. 406; Miller v. State, 110 Ala. 69, 20 So. 392; Attorney General v. Pelletier, 240 Mass. 264, 134 N. E. 407." Ex parte Messer, 228 Ala. 16, 18, 152 So. 244.

Because the proceeding, in which petitioner is called to testify, is not a criminal case, we hold that the fact that he is the defendant is not a good ground entitling him to refuse to take the witness stand.

We do not say that he may be compelled to answer a question when his answer to the question would incriminate him. No question has been asked, and here again we will not speculate. In this connection, see: Cohen v. Hurley, 366 U. S. 117, 81 S. C.t 954, 6 L. Ed. 2d 156; In re Cohen, 9 App. Div. 2d 436, 195 N.Y.S. 2d 990; Matter of Cohen, 7 N. Y. 2d 488, 199 N.Y.S. 2d 658, 166 N. E. 2d 672.

Error not being shown, the judgment is due to be affirmed.
